Amy Shine– Director, Forbes Preschool

Amy Shine is well known in her community as a leader for her work as a campaigner for early education; she is passionate about the importance of ensuring inclusion in all walks in her role as the Director at Forbes Preschool.

For over 20 years Amy has worked in early education, teaching young children and adults in rural and remote settings.

Forbes Preschool were proud winners of the Narragunnawali awards celebrating their work in the local Aboriginal community.

Amy is committed to sharing with others how we can make a difference in quality early education.
